Former Policeman Admits Wine Store Holdup Here

A six-week search by district police for a daring blond gunman was ended in Youngstown today when a 33-year-old Warren man gave himself up to police.

He identified himself as Joseph J. Burch, a former Warren policeman and an ex-paratrooper.

During the course of preliminary questioning, he admitted robbing the Corso Wine Shop here on May 18. He held up Mike and Frank Corso and took $47 in cash.

The man, answering the description of the robber sought in Cleveland since April 21, walked into the Youngstown police headquarters Tuesday and surrendered himself as the "walking bandit."

After surrendering, he confessed the Salem robbery and to several other crimes in Cleveland, Youngstown and other northern Ohio cities.

Used Car For Escape

Burch announced to Youngstown police Lt. John B. Thomas and Patrolman Edward Staron that he was their man, but that he used an automobile in getting away from his holdups.

"My black stallion on four wheels is parked in the street in front of the station," Lt. Thomas quoted him as saying.

Police had been searching for a bandit who committed 11 holdups in Youngstown and Mahoning and Columbiana counties during the past month, taking a total of about $550. None of his victims had seen him use an automobile, as he appeared to walk away from the scene.

Lt. Thomas said Burch admitted stealing the car in Cleveland. He also quoted Burch as saying he committed the holdups to overcome a feeling of inferiority.

His weapon was a toy flashlight pistol, the officer added.

At police headquarters in Youngstown Burch was identified as having served on the Warren police force from 1940 to May, 1948, when he resigned. During the war, however, he served as a paratrooper.

The High school chorus, directed by Thomas E. Crothers, will be heard in the anthems, "Holy, Holy, Holy," by Dykes, and "Battle Hymn of the Republic," by Steffe—both Ringwald arrangements.

The principal sermon, "The End of the Beginning," will be delivered by Rev. E. S. Scott.

After the audience sings, "Savior, Again to Thy Dear Name," Rev. W. P. Dockery will pronounce the benediction. The students will march out of the auditorium to the recessional, "Praise Ye the Father," by Gounod, as played by the orchestra.

SCHOOLBOY PATROL TO BE RECOGNIZED

The 76 members of the Schoolboy Patrol at McKinley, Reilly, Fourth Street and St. Paul's school soon will receive "Awards of Merit" from the Columbiana County Motor club and the A. A. A.

They are among the more than 600 youths in the county to be presented the awards, according to Albert P. Morris, club manager.

The awards are being presented "in recognition of meritorious service rendered in protecting lives of school children while serving as a member of the School Safety Patrol for the year 1948-49."

Morris said there have been no accidents within the school zones throughout the county during the entire year.

In further recognition of the service, the local theaters will entertain the boys at a movie at an early date.

There are 380 schoolboy patrol members in East Liverpool, 30 in East Palestine, 85 in Columbiana, 110 in Lisbon, 30 in Leetonia and 12 in North Georgetown.

Clinic Hospital Reports For Year Made, Name Trustee

Ray DuBrucq, president of the Crescent Machine Co. of Leetonia, was elected to a three-year term as trustee of the Central Clinic hospital association Tuesday evening at the group's annual meeting.

He previously had filled the unexpired term of the late R. F. Benninger.

Dr. G. A. Roose, president, conducted the meeting at which financial reports were given by Secretary Albert Hanna.

The total operating cost at the Clinic for 1948 was $169,939.58, against an income of $163,505.43. The $6,434.16 loss was offset by a $2,625 grant from the Community Chest and by $3,917.82 depreciation on the building and equipment which was included in hospital costs, it was reported.

During the past year, the Clinic admitted 1,405 patients, had 439 births, discharged 1,788 patients, had 46 deaths. The discharges were 50 more than in 1947.

Free service in the amount of $7,904.56 was given last year, reports indicated.

The daily average number of patients was 38, with an average stay of seven days. The mortality rate at the Clinic was a low 2.4 percent.

The cost per patient day was $13.28 although one and a half employees per patient work at the hospital.

During 1948, 666 surgical operations were performed, 783 anesthetics administered, 136 blood transfusions given and 1,179 patients served by the X-ray department.

To Expand Hospital Hanna reported that the association now has $176,000 available for building its new hospital wing and that bids are being taken this week on the construction. Estimates have placed the cost of actual construction at $205,000, exclusive of new equipment. If the bids do not exceed the estimates, he said, construction will begin immediately.

A reorganization meeting of the trustees of the association will be held June 28.

Thirty-six persons were elected to the association last night for life terms, making a total membership of 99. Members are from all over northern Columbiana county.

SUSPEND ALLIANCE POLICE FOR MOVE AGAINST MOOSE

ALLIANCE, June 1—(AP)—Six policemen who conducted a liquor raid on the Moose club Sunday while off duty were under 30-day suspensions today.

Acting Police Chief A. O. Lower ordered the action, claiming the raid was unauthorized. He filed charges of insubordination. Later yesterday, Municipal Judge H. S. Wykoff threw out a charge the officers had filed against Robert L. Greenawalt, club secretary.

The suspended policemen, all former servicemen, are W. Neil Maloney, George Ziga, Donald Grimm, Jack Ossler, Edward Moretti, and Donald Cowen. All but Maloney joined the force after the war. They said they would appeal the suspension to the civil service commission.

Upon insistence of the officers, a charge of Sunday liquor sales had been filed against Greenawalt. In dismissing the case, Judge Wykoff held the charge improper.

Several Sundays ago, a policeman tried to enter the club, but had the door slammed in his face. Lower issued an order orally for police to stay away from the club, the suspended men said.

Alliance was the center of an extended cleanup drive in February.

Donna Saunders Fund Grows; New Benefits Planned

The "Donna Saunders Fund" got a decided boost Tuesday in Lisbon when announcement was made that $726 has been collected in that community for the little traffic victim.

The money came from several sources, including a $200 donation from the American Red Cross. A benefit softball game was held at Lisbon Memorial stadium last night and the proceeds were to be turned over to the fund. That money was not counted in today's $726.

Coin boxes have been placed in many Lisbon business houses.

In Salem, Amvet Post 68 announced today that it plans to form a "bucket brigade" next week and canvass most of the city. At a post meeting last night, Dick Kautz was named chairman of a committee to plan the drive.

The post will send members on a house-to-house tour during the early evening next Tuesday and will ask for contributions.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will formulate fund raising plans at its Thursday night meeting.

The Chandler Parent-Teacher association is holding a chicken dinner in the Guilford grange hall on June 18 as a benefit for the Saunders girl.

Meanwhile, the condition of Donna Marie is unchanged. She is still unconscious at City hospital, the same condition that has prevailed since she was struck by a coal truck while boarding her school bus in front of her home on Feb. 9.

SHOCKED BY LINKING WITH RED SPY RING

Notes In Judith Coplon's Purse Link Interior Department Workers

WASHINGTON, June 1—(AP)—Shock and anger that they were linked in any way with Communists was the expressed reaction today of persons whose names were found in Judith Coplon's pocketbook the night she was arrested on espionage charges.

One FBI paper introduced as evidence in Miss Coplon's trial yesterday quoted a "report" the secretary to former Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes was a "contact" for the Soviet embassy. That brought heated denials from both the woman, Ruth Gruber, and the fiery ex-cabinet member.

She said she was never a contact for anyone. Ickes snapped that in the first place she wasn't his secretary and in the second place she wasn't a Red. "If that's a test of the accuracy of the FBI they'd better disband," he commented.

Alvin Sinderbrand, a Georgetown university law student who was discussed obscurely along with his wife in another, non-FBI, paper found in the Coplon purse, expressed "complete shock" they were mentioned in any way. He said: "Miss Coplon had never approached us with a view to doing spy activity or to feel us out on our political views." The paper in her pocketbook didn't say they had been so approached, but rambled about their politics.

Denied All Guilt Miss Coplon is the 28-year-old former justice department analyst being tried here on charges of pilfering secret government papers with intent to help another nation. She has denied all guilt, save that of "knowing" a Russian. The Russian is Valentine A. Gubitchev, suspended employee of the United Nations, with whom she also is under indictment in New York on charges of espionage conspiracy.

The papers were found in her purse when she and Gubitchev were arrested.

One of the papers put in evidence referred to an FBI report on a woman named Ursula Wasserman and said:

"In March, 1946, subject had in her address book the name of Ruth Gruber. Gruber has been reported to have been a contact of F. A. Gararin of the Soviet embassy, Washington. Gruber was secretary to Harold Ickes, secretary of interior."

The interior department promptly reported Miss Gruber worked for the department for five years, but never as Ickes' secretary. Said Miss Gruber, now a free-lance writer in New York:

"I never heard of the Coplon girl until her name appeared in the newspapers. I never was a contact person for anyone. My job was not secretary to Mr. Ickes, which might imply I had access to secret papers. I had none."

Ickes elaborated: "Some fool writes her name on a slip of paper and they try to smear her. If she's a Red, I'm a Hottentot. They'll be smearing me next."

EISLER THREATENS SUIT AGAINST U. S. TO RECOVER BAIL

By BOB ROY BUCKINGHAM PRAGUE, June 1 — (UP) — Communist Gerhart Eisler threatened today to sue the United States government for damages to cover the $23,000 bail forfeited when he fled from the United States to escape a possible prison sentence.

The international Communist leader and fugitive from American justice was interviewed in the luxurious state-owned Hotel Ambassador between embraces from top-ranking Communists who greeted him like a long-lost cousin.

Jubilant at his escape, he called U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark "this year's candidate for the Nobel prize for stupidity" and boasted that "Uncle J. Edgar Hoover is no superman."

He refused to divulge details of his bail-jumping voyage from New York "because the FBI doesn't know—and I don't want to spoil it for any more political refugees."

He said he had left instructions with his London attorney to file suit against the U. S. for the bail money lost when he skipped.

Eisler claimed that he was conscience-stricken for "letting the civil rights congress hold the bag on his bail" when he fled. But he said his flight was governed by three considerations:

1. "If I had stayed in the United States, my appeal would have cost thousands of dollars without result—because I would have been tossed into prison anyway."

2. "If I came back to Germany and the time came when German money was worth something, I could repay my friends."

3. "I could better fight for peace in Germany than a United States prison."

The man who has been described as the number one Communist agent in the United States said he had decided to leave England suddenly and without announcement Monday night because he feared that Clark might figure out a way to get him.

"Clark said he would not give up trying," Eisler said, "and I decided I better beat him to the punch."

Eisler emphasized that he felt differently about the American people in general than Clark and Hoover in particular.

"Some of the best friends I have in the world are there," Eisler said. "Most Americans are good guys. But I despise American reaction—J. Edgar Hoover and his boys, the State department, and the (house) unAmerican activities committee."

Eisler denied that he was summoned to Czechoslovakia by the Communist information bureau. He said he intended to proceed to Poland in a few days and then return to Germany—after an 11 year absence.

Eisler has been appointed a professor of political history at Leipzig university and will hold a seat in the Communist east German people's congress.

WANTS TO CHECK ACTIVITY, FUNCTIONS OF COMMISSION LILIENTHAL OPERATES NOW

WASHINGTON, June 1 — (AP) — Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) today demanded to see Atomic Energy commission records on 14 agreements and transactions and security data on an unnamed number of persons.

Hickenlooper fired this demand when the senate-house atomic committee began hearings on his charge there has been "incredible mismanagement" of the Atomic Energy commission under the chairmanship of David E. Lilienthal.

Hickenlooper had a sealed envelope he said contained the names of the persons he wants to get security data about. He did not say how many names there were.

With Lilienthal and Carroll L. Wilson, AEC general manager, facing him over a committee table, Hickenlooper began by saying Lilienthal is "inadequate" to fill the job he holds.

The Iowa senator then demanded the information on 14 different matters and started to hand to Lilienthal the sealed envelope.

Hickenlooper said he wanted this material to use in future questioning of Lilienthal.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) asked to see the envelope.

McMahon opened it, read the list, and handed it to Lilienthal. Besides this, Hickenlooper asked the commission to deliver to him by 5 p. m. today, the following:

1. All correspondence regarding the custody of atomic weapons.

2. Reports of the commission's advisory committee.

3. Records of all overtime paid to headquarters personnel in Washington.

4. The minutes of the commission's general advisory board.

5. The minutes of its military liaison committee.

6. The commission's minutes.

7. Records of the Quebec conference pertaining to atomic matters. (The conference was a 1943 meeting of the late President Roosevelt and then British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and their advisers.)

8. A Hyde park memo on atomic matters.

9. Records of the Potsdam conference regarding atomic affairs.

10. A statement of the position of the United States and the United Kingdom on atomic matter in January, 1948.

11. An inventory of the Manhattan district when it was turned over to the civilian commission.

12. Correspondence with the Federal Bureau of Investigation on lost or misplaced atomic source material.

13. Engineering plans for reactor sites.

14. Records of all of the investigations for applicants for fellowships.

McMahon had opened the session with an assertion that there would be "no persecution and no white-wash" in the investigation of the charges Hickenlooper has made against Lilienthal.

McMahon said "the issue is one which goes to the heart of our national defense."

"The responsibility of the joint committee on atomic energy to congress and to the people is now direct and immediate."

"The purpose of the hearings which begin today is to get at the truth."

Rev. Charles E. Haworth, pastor of the Beloit Friends church for eight years, has resigned to accept the pastorate of the Canton Friends church. He will assume his new duties Sept. 1.

Applied Intelligence

Both houses of congress now have passed the hush-hush bill to give the United States central intelligence agency the power it wants.

Senator Tydings of Maryland, in charge of senate action on the bill, told his colleagues the bill was the "most important of the session." That being the case, it's important to understand what the central intelligence agency is, what it's designed to do.

In the past, Americans have found out more and known less about what was going on in the world than the citizens of any other major power. The national weakness was not an absolute lack of information but only a lack of organization for processing it and getting it into the right hands.

The armed services had their own intelligence service; they weren't coordinated. The State department had its own means of gathering information vital to national security but it never was processed and put in the right hands for no one was officially responsible for obtaining it. When obtained by private individuals, the information was in danger of being rejected by official circles; that was what happened to Charles A. Lindbergh's report on the strength of Hitler's air force before World War II.

The central intelligence agency is officially responsible for gathering information for the United States. It is responsible for processing the information—picking out the important things and rejecting the rest. It is responsible for keeping all branches of the government informed about what is going on in the world. Senator Tydings did not go too far when he described the extension of its authority as the most important bill to come before congress this year.

No Holiday For Death

In the roundup of violent deaths caused by traffic accidents, drowning and miscellaneous accidents over the three-day holiday weekend, the total reached approximately 400. About 250 of these deaths were caused by traffic accidents, exceeding a forecast by the National Safety Council of 215 traffic deaths.

This statistical approach to holiday activity can be carried too far. No matter how desirable it may be to minimize accidents, it's wrong to blame them on holiday pastimes. Yet that is the present trend of thought—that holidays take too great a toll of life and that this detracts from the holidays themselves.

The non-statistical fact is that millions of Americans had a fine time over the Memorial day weekend. There were mishaps; there always will be when millions of human beings step up the rate of danger by doing potentially dangerous things. As more is learned about safety, the margin of safety can be widened, not only during holidays but all the other days.

There is no holiday for death.

Time For A Change

President Truman is noted for his stubbornness. In a political sense, it has been an asset. He used it to good advantage in his 1948 campaign, when he refused to give up and thereby gained respect for his personal courage.

But his stubbornness about federal finances is in another category. Mr. Truman is not on the stump now. He is the administrator of the federal government. He is charged with responsibility for national policy.

If he were to change his personal position from that of favor for more spending and more taxing to that of favor for a program of moderate retrenchment, congress would fall in step. Most congressmen, sensing the misgivings of their constituents about a government which can't cut down its spending and taxing rates, want to switch to economy. This is being made hard for them to do by Mr. Truman's stand-pat position in favor of adding more billions to the budget and more billions to the tax bill.

The question raised by the presidential attitude is whether it reflects a firm conviction about what is good for the country, or whether it merely reflects the stubborn streak in Mr. Truman's personality. No one doubts that financial conditions are changing.

Everybody else in the United States is looking for means of adjustment to the new conditions. But Mr. Truman seems to be going ahead on the assumption that nothing is going to change—that the federal government can barge ahead as if inflation had not yielded to the beginning of deflation. Even on a political basis, which is where the Truman administration seems to do nearly all of its thinking, there is no excuse any longer for claiming that the sky's the limit in federal finance.

Eisler's In Good Hands

Gerhart Eisler is now in Prague, apparently sitting in on a full-dress conference of European Communists. He is in good hands. European Communists, who have much to learn, will be wanting to ask him questions.

They should be particularly interested in a circumstance that has been neglected by the rush of recent events. Eisler can tell them. If he wants to be honest and accurate he can tell them why their counter-revolution has fallen on hard times.

It's because the international conspiracy of the Communist party has awakened the slumbering spirit of the only real revolution in the Christian era—the revolution against the oppression of human beings by self-appointed dictators. That is a circumstance which Communists and anti-Communists do not grasp easily.

They share the misconception that the Communist conspiracy is more dynamic than the thing it is trying to overthrow—the principle that men have an inalienable right to be free. It's that principle which gives the men in the Kremlin nightmares which makes the lives of their puppets insecure and which threatens to destroy all of them. That is what makes them fear the Marshall plan and every other organized effort to strengthen the foundations of freedom. Freedom is a revolution maintained in the hearts of men, whereas oppression can be sustained only by false propaganda. Comrade Eisler, if he talks straight to his companions in Prague, can give them enough discouragement to last the rest of their lifetimes.

For Thursday, June 2

THE sidereal operation encourage the determined and sagacious efforts concentrated on the highest goals and objectives, whether these be in the realm of the realistic or ideals. Ambitions and aspiration materialize all along the line, providing they be discreetly and astutely managed. Lasting and deep-seated benefits follow shrewdly worked-out programs, with efforts inspired, sustained and vivified by finer emotions, feeling or ideals. A favorable time for change, new contracts, correspondence or travel, but with an eye on duplicity or traps.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to marshal their finer powers, forces, influences and talents in the endeavor to attain their hopes and wishes. In the realm of the idealistic, subtle and intriguing results could be surprising and far-reaching. The emotions and feelings are highly stimulated for exceptional performance in fine creative projects. The mentality is keen, sagacious and versatile, making it a propitious time for changes, travel, new agreements, and inaugurating ambitious practical propositions. Be wary as to snares.

A child born on this day, may have excellent endowments for superior creative work, of high order. Its ideals and emotions are outstanding, making it easily subject to treachery.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

New Infant Care In Hospitals

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN,
M. D.

There can be no doubt that as a rule birth is safer today in a hospital, and that the mother is usually well cared for there in the days immediately following the delivery of her baby. On the other hand, there is no denying that epidemics, particularly of infant diarrhea, which sometimes break out in hospital nurseries, are a grave threat to the baby.

In an attempt to prevent such outbreaks, and also bring mothers closer to their babies, a new plan has been tried in a number of hospitals. Instead of being placed in a nursery, the baby stays in a room with its mother. One such study of more than 1400 cases indicates that this method helped to prevent epidemic infections, improved the relation between mother and baby, and served as a stimulus to breast feeding.

Trained Supervision

Furthermore, with the baby at her bedside, the mother, first by watching the care given by trained people, next by undertaking it herself under trained supervision, becomes acquainted with the baby's habits and gains much more confidence in being able to care for the baby at home.

Among the more than 1400 babies who were cared for at the bedside of the mother in a well-known hospital, there was not one case of skin infection or serious disturbances of the stomach or bowel.

It is felt that if any single newborn baby gets an infection when the above type of procedure is used, it can be controlled by confining the disorder to the one room in which it occurs. Of course, if the mothers are cared for in wards, there might be up to six babies exposed in a ward but, even in such cases, the infection is confined to a single ward room. Outbreaks will not occur even in nurseries if proper techniques are used.

It was found, too, that when the babies were kept by their mothers' besides the mothers did not have more time on their hands than they knew what to do with. Instead, the mothers kept close guard over their infants and took pride in their care.

It was noted that the entire atmosphere of the ward changed, becoming hushed and quiet. It is rare in this type of procedure for the babies to do much crying. It was also found that more than 85 per cent of the mothers nursed their babies. The mother put the baby to the breast whenever it appeared to be hungry. The milk came in more freely, and one-fourth of the babies regained their birth weight by the fifth day after birth.

It would appear that this type of newborn baby care in hospitals is deserving of the further study and investigation that it is not getting.

Lewis Levels Scorching Attack On Mine Safety Laws

WASHINGTON, June 1—(AP)—John L. Lewis yesterday bitterly denounced state officials and coal mine operators for what he called their failure to assure safety in the mines.

The United Mine Workers' chief called on congress to "act now by passing a bill" which would give federal inspectors the right to close mines in cases where they felt there was imminent danger.

He declared some mine operators have no concern for human life and contemptuously referred to them as "polecats." Seven state mine inspection agencies, he asserted, "chose to ignore completely" the safety provisions of the present laws.

Lewis testified before a senate labor subcommittee which is studying that bill.

Lewis said during the last 19 years 1,259,081 miners have been "mangled, mangled and killed" in the coal pits.

He added during the first two years of World War II, casualties in the mines exceeded those in the armed services.

"For the one (the service casualties), there was concern," Lewis declared. "For the others there was unconcern in any public sense."

Uses Flowery Talk
Alluding to Merlin, the legendary magician of King Arthur's day, Lewis told the committee: "If I had the power of a Merlin, I would march that million and a quarter men past the congress of the United States. The quick and the dead."

"I would have the ambulatory injured drag the dead after them."

The UMW chief said he would have the maimed and the mangled crawl past "so the congress might see them trailing their bowels after them." He added: "I would have the concourse flanked by five weeping members of each family."

The union chief said congress passed a mine safety law last year which, in effect, gave the states 12 months' notice to improve conditions in the pits.

But, he declared, the "owner, operator and state safety agencies have not now and never had any intention of voluntary compliance" with that law.

Lewis said the seven state mine safety agencies which "chose to ignore completely" the provisions of the present law are: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Iowa, North Dakota, Pennsylvania and Wyoming.

Lay Cornerstone For Mount Library June 4

ALLIANCE, June 1—Laying of the cornerstone for the new library at Mount Union college is set for 4 p. m. Saturday, June 4, with Dr. Louis T. Benzset, president of Allegheny college, as the main speaker.

General theme of the library construction, for which ground was broken on March 7, follows a modern type called "modular planning," which allows flexibility in arrangement to meet present and future needs. The library, providing rooms for reading, book stacks, seminar groups and lounges, will be a four level building. It will triple the seating capacity of the present library, which lacks much needed space.

The $580,000 building, marking the first of eight college buildings proposed in the expansion program, is financed primarily by funds raised by alumni and friends of the college.

Record Short-Lived

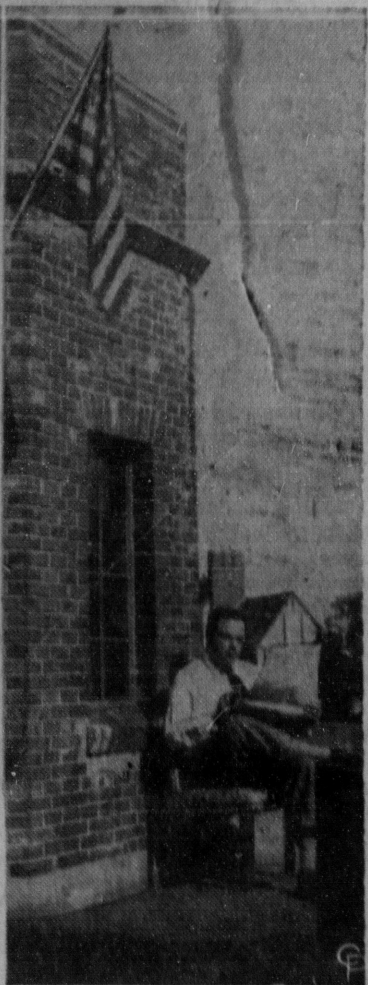

LA SALIE, Ill.—When an 84-year-old patient underwent an appendectomy, doctors and nurses at St. Mary's hospital thought they had a record. But it wasn't long before the record was broken by Miss Kate Moriarty, 91.

U.S. BUSINESSMAN REFUSES TO QUIT SHANGHAI

DETERMINED TO STAY in Shanghai despite the battle between Communists and Nationalists, James Farrell of New York City, U. S. airline representative, keeps a "business as usual" sign out. Above, Farrell's credentials are checked on the way to the airport. At right, he sits on the porch of his house in the French town section, the American flag flying overhead, and reads the evening paper. Although all foreign airlines announced discontinuance of service, Farrell's line hopes to operate again if the Communists should capture the port city. (International)

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — "How old is God's grandmother?" This is one of the 50,000 questions put last year to the American child's number one answer lady—Ellen V. McLoughlin.

Miss McLoughlin is editor-in-chief of the Book of Knowledge, a reference library for children that has sold 5,000,000 twenty-volume sets since 1910.

File New Charge Against Policeman

LANCASTER, June 1—(AP)—Police Chief Sam Hutsler is charged with another offense today—criminal libel.

The 38-year-old law officer, arrested last week on extortion charges in connection with kickbacks from local merchants—was named yesterday in an affidavit filed by Attorney Russell Cunningham.

He contended the police chief made a statement printed in the Lancaster Eagle-Gazette May 25 that Cunningham had been indicted on a criminal charge by a grand jury.

Hutsler pleaded innocent to the second charge and was bound over to the Fairfield county grand jury under $500 bond by Justice of Peace Ollie B. Jones.

Cunningham is the attorney for three policemen who filed the extortion charges against Hutsler. Those charges held that the chief and Police Lieut. Everett Brown had accepted money from persons selling equipment to the police department.

After his arrest and subsequent release, Hutsler suspended the officers—Capt. Laurence F. Bauer, Lieut. Merrill H. Martin and Officer Lester Crook. He said they were guilty of insubordination or gross neglect of duty.

A hearing was set for 10 a. m. today when Hutsler will ask for a writ of prejudice against Common Pleas Judge Kilburger. The police chief holds that the judge is prejudiced against him and not qualified to handle the extortion case.

With each set the buyer gets a book of 100 coupons. Each coupon entitles him to send in a question to the book firm's answer service.

"IF EVERYONE asked his full quota of 100 questions we'd have been bankrupt long ago," laughed Miss McLoughlin.

As it is she requires a staff of 35 research assistants to inform readers on how to install a farm sewage system or the best way to stuff a chipmunk.

The questions come from five continents. A surprising number are from grownups who have to give talks on current affairs and lack the energy to go to a public library and dig out the information themselves.

"We won't do the homework for any child or college student," said Miss McLoughlin.

"But once they grow up they can be as lazy as they like. We'll help any adult in any field except medicine or law—which require a license."

One uneasy young man, engaged to be married, wrote in to ask if he really loved the girl he was pledged to lead to the altar.

"WE TOLD HIM that, statistically, nearly 100 per cent of young men about to marry felt the same way," said Miss McLoughlin. "And we assured him it was just a case of cold feet that normally should disappear after the ceremony."

More puzzling was the query of a worried woman frightened by where science is leading the world.

"When gravity lets loose, where do you go?" she wrote. Back went the glad news to her that so far gravity has kept a firm grip on everything. Except maybe prices.

Miss McLoughlin, who receives an honorary degree from Lincoln (Ill.) college this week for her work in child education, thinks children often ask more sensible questions than grown-ups.

Her favorite is the child who wanted to know: "Why is honey clean, when bees trample all over it with their feet?"

"A natural question like that bolsters your faith in children's intelligence," she said. "But what adult would think to ask it?"

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The fight between David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy commission, and Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican, has now burst wide open.

This is no peanut fight. It has now become one of the most bitter, wide-open quarrels in recent Washington history. It revolves around the whole atomic finish, has attacked Hickenlooper, energy program and the way it's being handled.

Hickenlooper started it by attacking Lilienthal, making charges, urging he be fired. Now Lilienthal wants to fight it to a and demands he put up or shut up.

The dispute between the two men—although other Republicans have joined in criticizing Lilienthal—that can be boiled down to this.

HICKENLOOPER—

1. A week ago he charged Lilienthal with "incredible mismanagement" and "maladministration" of the Atomic Energy program.

2. He says he wants the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, which could investigate his charges, to let him confront Lilienthal with proof.

LILIENTHAL—

1. He wants a long, public hearing on Hickenlooper's charges. Since the Atomic Energy program belongs to the public and the charges were made publicly, he says the public should not be left with doubts.

2. Lilienthal says this fight goes beyond any "political scuffling." He labels Hickenlooper's charges as "cynicism," a "campaign of smear . . . calculated to arouse fear and distrust."

With two such head-on attacks as these men have made on each other, it's hard to see how either can retreat from what he has said, if either should wish to.

But if there is a public hearing it's almost certain one of them will suffer injury in the public mind, either to his intentions, his judgment, or his ability.

CRUCIBLE STEEL HAS NEW STRIKE

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 1—(AP)—An unauthorized strike in the open hearth department idled several hundred more workers in the Crucible Steel Co. today at nearby Midland, Pa.

The wildcat walkout brought to approximately 1,500 the total now unemployed in the Midland works, most of whom are idle because of insufficient orders.

The walkout occurred Sunday when the open hearth workers failed to report for the 3 p. m. shift.

The walkout forced the shutdown of the only three furnaces that were in operation in that department.

James Mullen, international representative of the CIO United Steelworkers of America, described the strike as "unauthorized." He said "melters and first helpers" are involved.

There are no immediate meetings scheduled between the company and Local 1212.

Canton Man Identified Through Phone Number

UPPER DARBY, Pa., June 1—(UP)—Amnesia Victim Lawrence Wheatley, 51, Canton, O., had his identity back today because he remembered a telephone number.

Wheatley was taken to Delaware county hospital Saturday night after collapsing in a drug store. After lengthy questioning yesterday he mumbled a Philadelphia telephone number.

The number was tracked to Philip Finkelstein who identified Wheatley 51, Canton, O. Finkelstein said the amnesia victim was employed by his father before he moved to Ohio several years ago.

The Bible, or some part of it, now has been translated into more than 900 languages.

More Smiles per Gallon with Dynaflo Drive

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

THERE'S the smile when you slip the selector lever into Driving notch—and realize that's all there is to do.

There's the smile when you swing smoothly up to cruising speed without halt or check or break of stride. There's the smile at traffic lights when you halt, wait, then move away with never a thought about shifting.

But the broadest grin of all comes at the end of a long day's drive and you find you've covered more miles more easily. Even your treadle-foot—so likely to become tired and cramped maintaining an even speed in direct-drive cars—appreciates the fluid ease of Dynaflo.

For Dynaflo Drive is not merely a new transmission; it's a new experience—a new luxury in driving. In ten minutes you are handling it like a veteran—in two days you wouldn't be without it.

*Standard on 60-4DM-45T-8, optional at extra cost on 60-4DM-45T-8 models.

Small wonder, then, that Dynaflo is the drive with which all new developments in transmissions are compared.

Not merely "something better," it is something entirely new, the first exciting chapter in a whole new book.

Go learn for yourself how abundantly rich in pleasure every gallon becomes when you have Dynaflo.

Your Buick dealer will be glad to demonstrate—glad to quote delivered prices—glad to talk terms of as fine a deal as you could want.

And you'll find glad surprise in the delivery dates he is now mentioning.

BUICK alone has all these features

Silk-smooth DYNAFLO DRIVE* • FULL-VIEW VISION from enlarged glass area • SWING-EASY DOORS and easy access • "LIVING SPACE" INTERIORS with Deep-Cradle cushions • Buoyant-riding QUADRUFLUX COIL SPRINGING • Lively FIREBALL STRAIGHT-8 POWER with SELF-SETTING VALVE LIFTERS plus HI-POISED ENGINE MOUNTINGS • Low-pressure tires on SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • Cruiser-line VENTIPORTS • DUREX BEARINGS, main and connecting rods

EFFECT OF NEXT WAR WOULD MAKE LABOR WORTHLESS

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

BERKELEY, Calif. — Another war would result in the development of "mechanical slaves" which would make many types of human labor worthless, says Dr. Norbert Wiener, originator of a new idea of science.

Already science and engineering are nearer to the production of automata than they were to the development of radar prior to the outbreak of World War II, Dr. Wiener told a news conference.

Under this new concept of industrial production robots would do much of the work now done by men on assembly lines. These mechanical slaves would take over part or all of the jobs of billing clerks and similar occupations.

Normally such an advance could not be expected for at least 25 more years, but researchers under war-time pressure could bring it about in a couple of years, Dr. Wiener asserted.

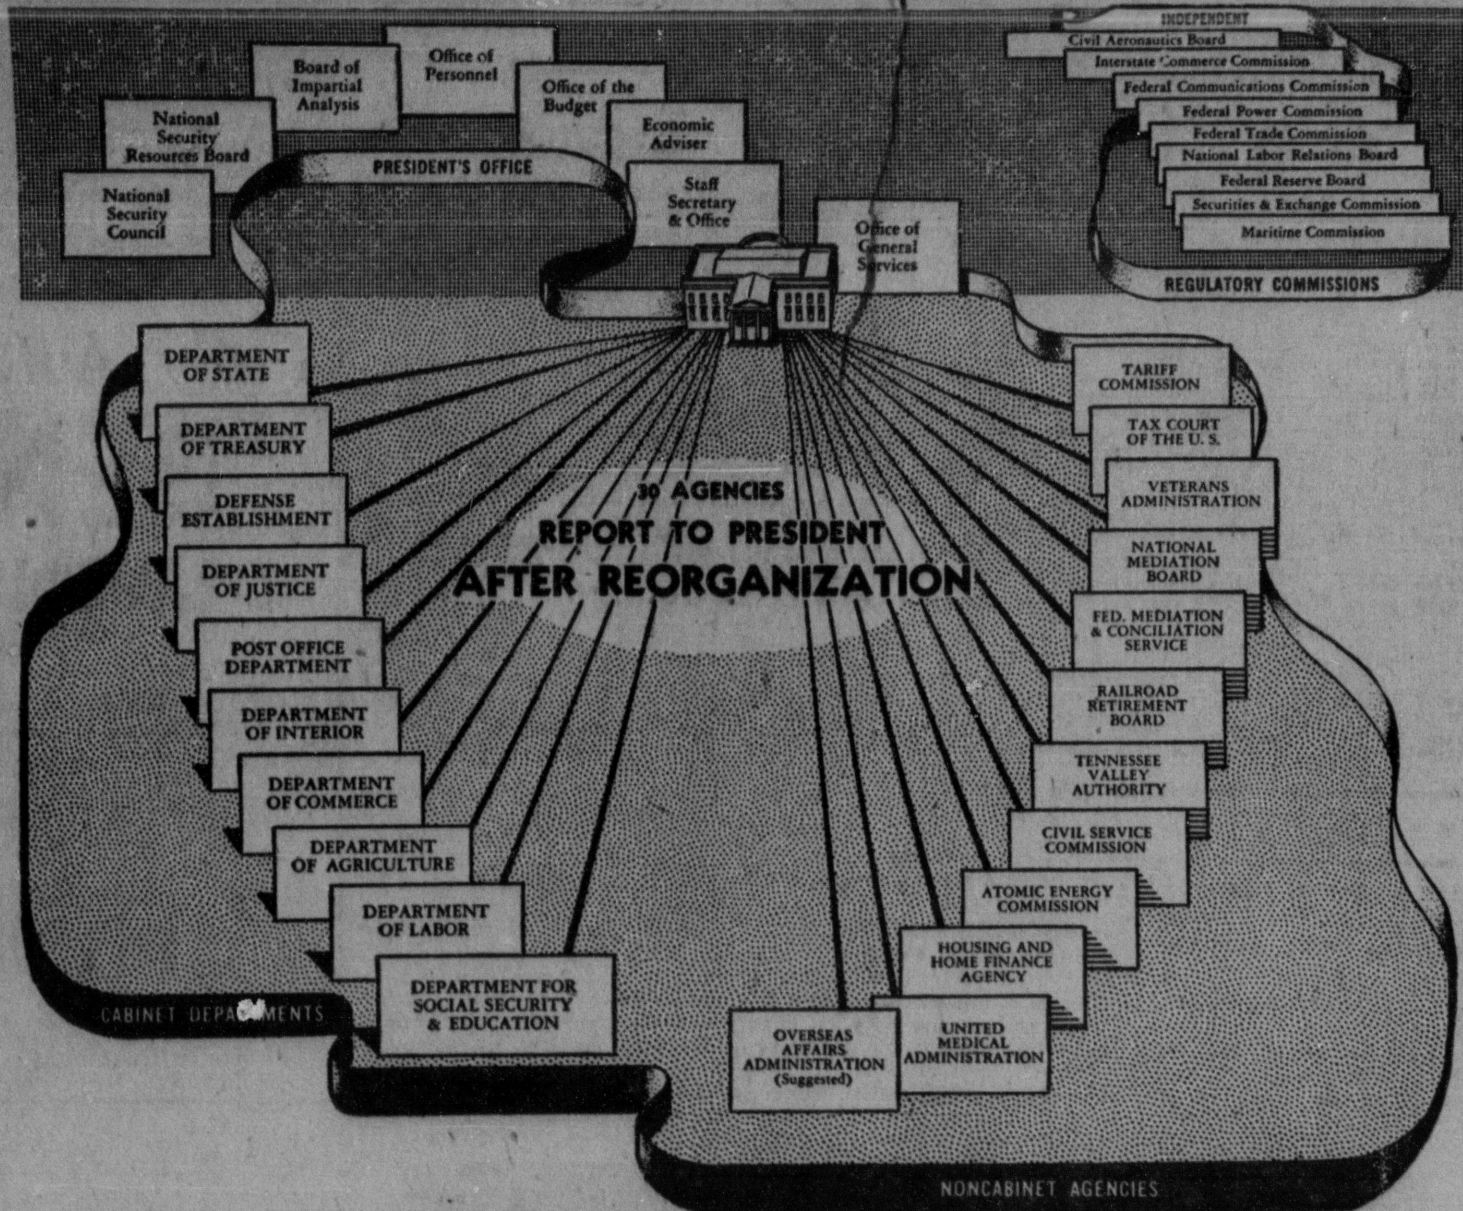

With machines doing most of the work, society then would be faced with the problem of what to do with displaced workers. Dr. Wiener said there would have to be either (A) revaluation of man's services, or (B) the "killing of a lot of people." This last alternative wouldn't be practical, he added.

Dr. Wiener, a professor of mathematics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is the sponsor of a new field of study called cybernetics. It is roughly defined as an attempt to find the factors which are common to both the human nervous system and to machines.

Once scientists get the hang of these common elements, they may be able to endow a machine with something resembling the nerves which control human muscles. The machine then would be able to do some of the things which now can be done only by human hands governed by brain and nerves.

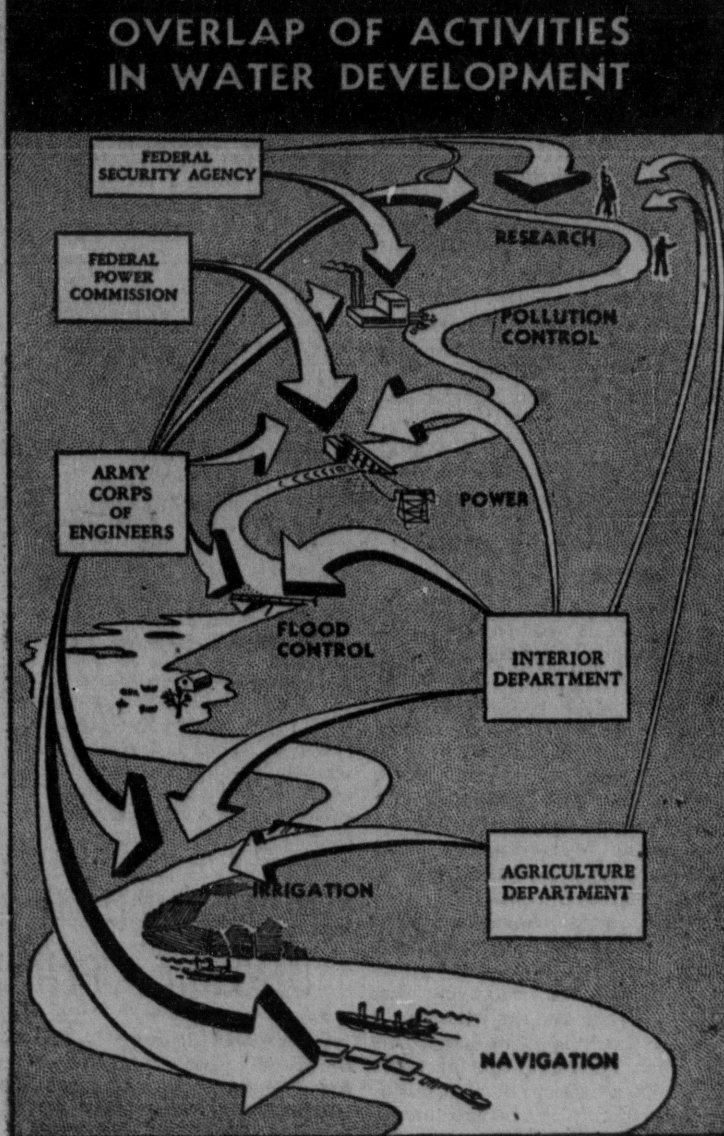

So-called mechanical brains now duplicate some of the feats of human brains but no machine yet has been made that will match the delicate control of nerves over muscles.

Hoover Committee Would Streamline Uncle Sam's 'Sloppy' Houskeeping

In its final sum-up report, last in a series of 19 submitted to Congress, the Hoover Commission on the Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government recommends cutting out 22 agencies reporting to the President. It absorbed them and their functions into various cabinet departments, boards and bureaus, so there would be only 30 instead of 52 different agencies reporting directly to the chief executive (chart at left). In addition, the commission proposes establishment of a new cabinet department, Department for Social Security and Education, and two non-cabinet agencies, United Medical Administration and Office of General Services. The new cabinet department would abolish the present Federal Security Agency, absorb Indian affairs, and supervise the various social security and educational services within the government. The United Medical Administration would handle the hospital and medical functions of Veterans' Administration; Army, Navy and Air Force general hospitals; the Public Health Service and drug inspection. The Office of General Services would be responsible for supply; administration and operation of all public buildings; and the national archives. The chart at right is an example of the overlapping of activities in water development alone. For example, irrigation is undertaken by the Interior Department, Agriculture Department and the Army Corps of Engineers. At the same time, Army engineers have their fingers in research, pollution control, power and flood control—all subjects of at least one other government agency. The results, says the commission, has been needless delay, confusion and gross waste of taxpayers' money.

Dewey Says U. S. Not Convinced About Russians

BERLIN, June 1—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said today the American people are not convinced yet the Russians intend to cooperate with the western world in a friendly manner.

The New York chief executive on a European tour, inspected the allied airlift in Berlin, visited the anti-Communist city government and then told a news conference: "When the Russians stopped playing bear and started to play lamb it was assumed their purpose was to persuade the world they intended to be friendly."

Subsequent events have not strengthened belief in that idea, he commented.

"It has not had that effect," Dewey asserted. "Both in the United States and every place I have been no one has been deceived. We all still hope that the lifting of the blockade will be genuine. I hope to learn more about that before I leave here and also to see what evidence there is of cooperation by the Russians."

He praised the allied airlift as "one of the great achievements of the century."

Roll call was answered with "Stories About My Favorite Relic or Antique."

Paul Beiling, Jr. was brought to his home from St. Elizabeth's hospital, Youngstown, Wednesday.

WHY HALF PRICE ON RINGS? ARMY CHECKING MATTER

WASHINGTON — (UP)—The army doesn't like its privates to marry. So why does it throw romance in their paths by selling diamond engagement rings at half price?

Robert Smart, a congressional investigator, put the question today before the house armed services subcommittee which is looking into the multi-million-dollar business of Army PX's and Navy ship's service stores.

Smart said he analyzed 5,000 "special orders" by which servicemen buy, at wholesale plus handling costs, and without payment of excise tax, items not usually kept in the PX stock.

Most of the orders were for big money purchases by officers, Smart said. Enlisted men's orders came mostly from sergeants, one of whom spent over $500 on a diamond with platinum setting.

"Usually you will find that where privates put in an order, they order diamond engagement rings," Smart noted. "It seems odd to me that the services, who say they are not happy about married privates, should make it possible for privates to buy diamond engagement rings at half price."

Smart said he found special orders for such things as fishing tackle, fancy cigars, typewriters (one officer bought two in a month), washing machines, stoves and television sets. One officer ordered goods worth $879 over a 60-day period.

The subcommittee is expected to recommend a sharp curtailment of the PX sales, which some retailers contend are putting them out of business.

If things work out the way Fritz Bichsel, Boosters club president, is hoping, Salem High's 1949 football squad is going to start its season under ideal training conditions.

President Bichsel, who has truly put additional zip in the Boosters club, is negotiating here and there these days to attempt to get a pre-season training camp for the Salem youngsters.

The project calls for considerable expense on the part of the club, but several outside organizations have indicated an interest in supporting the project.

Among those willing to go along with the plan is the Amvets post, composed largely of Salem High graduates.

The idea is a fine one. According to tentative plans the contingent to the camp, the week before school opens, would include about three full teams—33 men—plus coaches, managers and a trainer.

The full week at camp would be devoted, of course, to stringent football workouts. It would afford Coach Ben Barrett a suitable opportunity to get his charges in shape, and see more of their potentialities and develop them for the first game with New Philadelphia.

Originally the team opens drills Aug. 20 and goes through practice twice daily at Reilly stadium. These two-day sessions are limited, however, what with dressing, getting the squad set to go, etc., before each workout.

Much delay could be eliminated at a camp and the boys would be under the constant supervision of the coaching staff. It would be football morning, noon and night for a solid week. That's exactly the situation a coach desires before the first game and it's just what Salem has lacked in past years.

The camp, if arranged as hoped, is the answer to the early season weaknesses that have been apparent in Salem's teams in recent years. There just hasn't been enough time to get a new outfit ready for that first game.

The Ohio High School Athletic association has for years limited the amount of time a high school team can practice prior to the first game. The limit, most any coach will tell you, is a bit too stringent and about the only answer is a more concentrated schedule.

All the larger high schools are using the training camp system. Salem will do well to get into line. It's only fair to the players, the coaches and those vitally interested fans who follow the team so closely.

DEPT. OF CONGRATS

It's almost time to mention it again, but Salem is extremely fortunate in having one of the best—and most well known—polo teams in the state of Ohio.

The boys and their ponies made their 1949 debut at the North Ellsworth road Sunday and Monday. Both games—with Columbus Harbor Hills—were unusually well-played for so early in the year.

Hal Everett, one of the state's finest players and an expert at the game, remarked that it was

ODDS AND ENDS

Fred E. Cope, Salem faculty manager, and president of the Ohio Track Coaches, served as master of ceremonies at the Ohio track coaches meeting in Columbus Friday night. . . . Old F.E. introduced the Associated Press' Fritz Howell for one of Fritz's customary entertainment features.

The district was well represented among the officials at the track meet. . . . F.E. was head track inspector, and Dave Williams, "Chock" Gaines, Rib Allen, Sim Eirich all served in official capacities. . . .

The pole vaulting was fine. Cope reports, and the best race of the day was the mile run, where at least five were battling it right up to the finish. . . . A youngster from Westerville won out over a six foot-two-inch strider in a 4:33.1 minute time. . . .

The most disappointed fellow in the meet was Coach Dave Albright of Dayton Dunbar. . . . With two half miles who have done it in less than two minutes, the best he could get was a third while the other fellow failed to place. . . . Winning time was 1:59.6 minutes, slower than both lads had previously done.

It was the largest paid crowd ever at a state track meet. . . . There was typical "Cope weather" at the meet, despite rain elsewhere in the state. . . .

Legion Juniors Win Close One

Continuing their winning ways the Salem Junior American Legion slid by East Palestine 9-8 Tuesday at the Salem A. C. field.

Lacking the defensive smoothness they have shown in past games Salem managed the victory by superior hitting. The locals committed six errors, the high for the season so far.

Things looked comparatively easy at the out-set, the locals chalking up five runs in the first inning and three in the third before East Palestine had tallied a run. The last three innings, however, were nearly fatal.

SAMMY SNEED ON TOP IN PGA NOW; OUT FOR BIG ONE

National Open Next Goal
For Slamming Sammy;
Putter Pays Off

RICHMOND, Va., June 1—(AP)—Samuel Jackson Snead, at 37—is king of America's professional golfers today.

The slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., earned that distinction yesterday when he came from behind to defeat Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., 3 and 2, for the 1949 championship of the Professional Golfers association.

Snead's brilliant victory over Palmer distinguished Sam as—1—The only golfer in history ever to win the Masters tournament and the PGA crowns in one year. After his match with Palmer, Snead immediately served notice he is out to take his third major title this year in the National open at Chicago next week.

2—The nation's leading money winner for 1949. Sam has earned $12,610.83, with $3,500 coming from yesterday's triumph. Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago is second with $11,457 and Palmer third with $10,050.83.

3—A pretty fair country putter. Snead's putting had always been the subject of criticism. Folks said if Snead could putt like he can drive, he'd win tournaments. Since he began using a borrowed putter (he won't reveal where he got it), Snead has won three in a row—the Greensboro open, the Masters and now the PGA.

Snead moved around the 6,677-yard Hermitage Country club course yesterday in six-under-par to best Palmer. In the morning round, Snead carved a 69 for the par 71 layout. They were all even when Sam and Johnny wound up activities for the lunch-time intermission.

The match was all Snead in the afternoon. They halved the first three holes before Snead pulled ahead on the fourth with a birdie two on the par three twenty-second. The match was never even again.

Makes Stormy Manager Eat His Words; Hits Homer To Win Game For Brooklyn

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Furillo, the fellow Leo Durocher said couldn't hit right-handers, is making his old boss eat his words.

The Brooklyn right fielder hit a 14th-inning home run off Righthander Larry Jansen in the wee small hours this morning to win the "big game" of the young season for the on-rushing Dodgers.

Furillo's second homer of the year, both off Jansen, enabled the Dodgers to shade Leo's New York Giants, 6-4, in a 3-hour-57 minute Marathon at the Polo grounds.

As a result of the homer and a spectacular job of no-hit, no-run relief pitching by Rookie Jack Banta, the Dodgers enter June in a two-way tie with the Boston Braves for the National League lead. The Giants, who were partners in a triple tie yesterday morning, now are third.

It was a toughie for Jansen who opposed four Dodger pitchers during the long evening. He blew an early 3-0 lead and another 4-3 advantage. Then in the 14 he dished up the homer to Furillo. A triple by Roy Campanella sent the tiring Giant ace to the showers. Dave Koslo yielded the extra score on Banta's single, his first hit of the season.

Jackie Robinson, always an important part of every Dodger victory, didn't figure in the headlines of this one although he clicked for three hits. But he made a fine running catch of Johnny Mize's foul fly against the right field wall that helped Robinson always plays deep in a wide shift to right against the long ball-hitting Mize.

As a result of the night's efforts, Robinson boosted his average to .360. He has been going at a terrific clip for the past week. Over that stretch he has hit .563 on 18 hits in 32 at bats, hotter than anybody in the majors.

Jansen was three outs from vic-

Holland Rakes In Biggest Prize

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1—(AP)—Bill Holland, who shook off the bad breaks of his first two 500-mile speedway auto races to set a new record in winning his third try, raked down the second highest prize money total in speedway history for his victory.

The Reading, Pa., roller rink proprietor won $51,575 for himself and Lou Moore, owner of the Blue Crown special Holland drove.

Only Billy Arnold ever got more for a speedy victory in 1930. He led all but three laps of the 1930 race and won $52,100.

In addition to the $51,575 he and Moore will share, according to their own arrangement, Holland received the Oldsmobile race car, a television set, a replica of Borg-Warner trophy, the "Ringmaster" ring given by Bardach brothers, and a year's free meals from a chain of Indiana restaurants.

The total prize fund, announced and distributed last night at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner for the drivers was $170,180—a new record. Of the total, $115,000 was given by Indianapolis Motor Speedway corporation. The rest was lap and accessory prizes.

Johnny Parsons won $18,250 for placing second. The Van Nuys, California, pilot set a new speedway record for rear-drive cars.

Other prize money awards: Third place—George Connor, Los Angeles, $11,675; fourth—Myron Fohr, Milwaukee, $8,575; fifth—Joe Chitwood, Reading, Pa., $6,950; sixth—Jimmy Jackson, Deseret Hot Springs, Calif., $6,629; seventh—Johnny Mantz, Long Beach, Calif., $4,690; eighth—Paul Russo, Hammond, Ind., $4,940; ninth—Emil Andre, Blue Island, Ill., $4,420; and tenth—Norman Houser, Indianapolis, $4,075.

THREE GAMES IN AMERICAN, TWO NATIONAL PLAYED

Parkers, Amvets Triumph
In National; Fisher,
CIO, VFW Win

Parkers and Amvets in the American league and Fishers, CIO and VFW outfits in the National league posted victories in Class A play at Salem's two recreational parks Tuesday night.

In the American battles the Parker club triumphed 6-4 over Swetye while the Amvets, defending league champions, edged the Democrats 7-2.

The National loop tilts saw Fishers get by Mullins in a good fray 5-4. The Igloo went down disastrously 20-8 before the red-hot CIO and the Vets managed a 5-2 margin over the Electric Furnace.

Loop activity continued tonight at West End Park when three Class A postponed games will be played off.

The CIO club was the slugging bunch Tuesday, blasting away for 16 solid hits. Practically everyone on the team fattened his average at the Igloo's expense.

Story of Collyer Brothers Bears Out Old Adage About "Death and Taxes"

By INEZ ROBB
NEW YORK, June 1—(INS)—If there is any moral in the strange life and death of those two wizened little recluses, the Collyer brothers, it is the inevitability of death and taxes.

The first finally claimed Langley and Homer, the determined hermits who were found dead in their incredibly junk-crammed Fifth ave. house in the early spring of 1947.

And taxes will dispose of most of the "fortune" supposedly left by the two who forsook the world and were by the world forgot until death made a nine-day sensation of them and their pack-rat existence.

Sometime within the next few weeks, the public administrator will make a final accounting of the Collyer estate, and "it will be very small indeed," according to Joseph A. Cox, attorney for Public Administrator Francis Mulligan, and his partner, Joseph T. Arenson.

The fortune, estimated at anywhere from $100,000 to $250,000 in the feverish days after the emaciated body of blind Homer was found in the one-time Collyer mansion on upper Fifth avenue, will shrink almost to nothing because of tax liens.

Took Three Weeks
(It took almost another three weeks to find the body of Langley, under tons of the junk he had accumulated through decades and which finally, in the end, booby trapped him as he crawled toward Homer to feed him.)

Both John R. McMullen, the courtly, white-haired lawyer whom Langley consulted through the years, and Cox agree that accumulated taxes on Collyer property will eat up most of the estate.

Homer, an admiralty lawyer, and Langley, an engineer, shared an understandable aversion to the payment of taxes to the city, state and Uncle Sam. Unintimidated in their reeking, squalid fortress, the two Collyers ignored tax notices. And liens accumulated.

It will be slim pickings for the 40 cousins who sprang from nowhere after the brothers died and who have filed claims for their respective share of the leavings.

Homer and Langley, who had locked and barred their doors against the world for many years, had included relatives in that decisive gesture.

But cousins from as far off as Brazil have written to seek their share, McMullen says. One of Homer's and Langley's uncles, a seafaring man, sailed to Brazil years ago, liked it fine, married there and raised a large family.

The house in which the two Collyers were found has been torn down. It was dangerously reeling from the weight of tons of junk.

Anything realized from the sale of the site, now in a semi-tenement district, will be swallowed by tax liens.

The old mansion across the street, once assessed for $40,000 and bought by Langley during the depression for $7,000, has already been sold by the government for taxes. The government, the only bidder, bought it for $100.

Went For Taxes

That leaves a parcel of lots in Jamaica, Long Island. Once the city paid the Collyers $70,000 for enough of the property to build a highway through it. But that $70,000 went for back taxes, McMullen says.

"Builders and contractors begged Langley to sell the lots when he was alive," the elderly lawyer explained to me. "But Langley always asked too much for it. And now that the war is over, no one seems interested in building there."

Cox said the same thing. And even if the public administrator is lucky enough to sell the lots, there are those infernal back taxes to be paid.

How about the many bank accounts kept all over the city by Langley?

Cox, who has not yet completed the final accounting of the estate, thought—off-hand—that they didn't total much more than $1,000. McMullen was uncertain, too, but didn't think they would exceed $5,000 at the very most.

No gold, no greenbacks, no diamonds, nothing of the least value whatever, was found in the horrifying accumulation of debris with which Langley crowded the house.

The brothers and the fortune are gone. Only the legend lingers on.

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified advertising columns.

MR. BROWN SAYS WORLD WILL TIP OVER VERY SOON

By LEO TURNER

NEW YORK—(UP)—Hugh Auchincloss Brown said today that the world was about to tip over.

You probably won't notice it, Brown said, because a lot of people would automatically freeze to death when their back yards became the new North and South poles.

Several million more will drown, he said, when the ice caps at the North and South poles melt under the equatorial sun and flood the continents.

The increasing weight of the Polar ice caps are what's going to cause the world to wobble and tip over, he said.

Brown, who's 70 years old, has been a practicing engineer in suburban Douglaston Manor, Long Island, for 50 years. He's a graduate of Columbia university.

He calls the "wobble" from the ice caps "the third motion of the earth."

"The navy has indicated that it is interested," he said today.

"I am not looking for any personal profit from my theory," Brown said. "Let us say, I am one of the passengers on a giant ship cruising through space. The captain and crew in control are dead sure of their course. I speak to one of the ship's officers and explain to him that the ship may capsize if certain precautions are not taken. He gives me 'the brush off'.

"Should I remain quiet? Who, seeing a broken rail and an approaching express train, would not take off his red shirt and wave it at the approaching locomotive engineer?"

The way Brown sees it, the ice-covered continent of Antarctica is about 5,000 feet above sea level. Asia is 3,000 feet, Africa 2,500 feet, South America 2,000 feet, North America 1,900 feet and Europe 940 feet.

The world tips over about every 8,000 years, he claims. It happens so fast that rain drops leave their frozen prints in the mud.

"The time is approaching," he said.

Brown proposes a $10,000,000 engineering project to blow the darned ice off the Polar caps.

CAUTION URGED ON HEALTH PLAN

Head of Blue Cross Plan Warns Nation of Step Into Welfare State

WASHINGTON, June 1—A plea that Americans go slow in making "a long leap into the welfare state" through compulsory health insurance was sounded today by Dr. Paul R. Hawley of the Blue Cross program for voluntary protection.

Dr. Hawley was chief medical director for the Veterans Administration before taking his present job of guiding private non-profit hospital plans based on a voluntary prepayment of the costs of health care.

He was called as a witness today before the senate labor and public welfare subcommittee holding hearings on President Truman's compulsory health insurance plan and counter measures.

In his prepared statement, Hawley was critical of "glib statements" he said were being offered in support of the Truman proposal for paying the people's medical bills. He urged instead appointment of a fact-finding body to study the country's health facilities and report on them to congress and the people.

"I can conceive of no greater folly," he said, "than either to accept at this time the necessity for such radical steps as compulsory health insurance, or to reject it for all time."

Hawley said he was not saying it was right or wrong to "leap into the welfare state," that this is a decision that each citizen must make for himself.

But he attacked the compulsory health idea from several sides and said at one point that: "The cost will be prohibitive in all but periods of maximum employment and production. It will threaten the military security of the nation through forced reduction of funds for defense; and it holds the promise of wrecking the solvency of the government."

The Truman health plan calls for a three per cent payroll tax, split between the employer and employee, on income up to $4,000 a year, plus contributions out of general tax receipts. Sponsors estimate its cost at $6,000,000, a year. Hawley said that on top of the 3 per cent tax there would be a deficit of $6,000,000,000 if 120,000,000 people are covered and $9,000,000,000 if the whole population is included.

MAKING BRAIN TO DO TRANSLATIONS

LOS ANGELES, June 1—(AP)—The U. S. Bureau of Standards is building an electric brain that will translate foreign languages—something that has stumped college freshmen for years.

The brain is being built at the University of California at Los Angeles by 20 mathematicians and technicians under the direction of Dr. Harry Huskey.

It also is expected to be able to compute salary payments, predict the weather and replace minor executives.

Dr. Huskey said at maximum speed it will perform 16,000 additions and 4,000 multiplications per second.

Its low speed memory can store up 60,000 words from the dictionary and also supply three foreign equivalents for each English word.
